

U. C. T. DELEGATIONS MAKE A BIG SHOWING IN JANESVILLE TODAY

MADISON, MILWAUKEE, RACINE AND SHEBOYGAN HAVE LARGE REPRESENTATIONS.

BANDS ARE PROMINENT

Musicians Do Their Part To Help
Make The Day A Memorable One
For The Order—Parade at Four O'clock.

Morning trains arriving on both the Northwestern and St. Paul roads were crowded with delegations intent on enjoying the festivities which attend the fifteenth annual session of the Wisconsin Grand Council, United Commercial Travelers.

The Madison delegation representing Council No. 126, arrived at ten thirty o'clock bringing with them the first Regiment band of twenty-four pieces. The Madison delegates are booming their candidate, E. A. Honeycomb, for the position of grand sentinel at the election which was held at the session this afternoon. This office together with the delegates to the national convention and the members of the executive committee are about the only ones to be filled as the others are advanced from the chairs which they now occupy to the next higher positions.

The Watertown band of thirty-eight pieces representing the Milwaukee struck faces watching their every move. As the various delegations passed in review they received rounds of applause and in turn did likewise as they stood at the conclusion of the parade and watched their fellow members pass by.

The Civic Features.
E. T. Fish, in charge of the civic features of the parade, deserves much credit. Between thirty and forty floats were in the line of march, headed by the Booster Marching club, with long gray coats and hats. Capt. Moore assisted in marshaling this division and it showed Janesville industry up to the best advantage, receiving applause all along the line of march.

Complimentary Concerts.
Thursday afternoon the Bower City band marched to the Gazette office and gave a most delightful complimentary concert for a few minutes which was much appreciated. At one thirty this afternoon George E. Oldenburg, captain of the marching club of Milwaukee No. 54, led his band of thirty-eight pieces to the Gazette office and several selections were rendered. Mr. Oldenburg has been captain of the Milwaukee marching club for the past ten years and has attended every state convention of the order. The band was a real treat and one gave a most delightful concert.

BILL TO REGULATE STOCKS AND BONDS

A New "Blue Sky" Law Drafted by Senate Corporation Committee Introduced Last Night.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 6.—A new "blue sky" law has been worked out by the senate committee on corporations and was introduced in the senate last night. The regulation of stocks and bonds is placed under the supervision of the railroad commission. Corporations issuing less than $25,000 in stock are exempted from the provisions of the bill. As the minimum fee for the filing of articles of incorporation is $25, the committee believed that smaller companies should be exempted. Usually such companies are composed of a few friends who take all of the stock themselves and there was no necessity for compelling them to file information with the commission. From the arguments before the committee it was evident that less than five percent of the stocks sold in the state are fraudulent. Under the bill of the disposal of the commission to answer any question regarding the stability of such stocks, the bill has already been recommended by the committee and will be passed in the senate next week under a suspension of the rules.

FIGHT OVER FENCE TAKEN INTO COURT

Marinette Neighbors Need Services of Jury to Decide Quarrel Over Line Fence.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Marinette, Wis., June 6.—The famous spit fence case was decided in court at Iron River, Mich., yesterday. The village council room was used as a court room and it was filled with interested spectators, many people being unable to obtain admission. The case was the outcome of a quarrel between the families of E. C. Russell and Jacob Ipes. A fence eight feet high was built by Russell between his property and that of the Ipes, and within three feet of the latter's home. Recently the Ipes family tore down the fence claiming that it shut off the light so that they had to use artificial lamps all day. Russell then started proceedings to have Mrs. Ipes put under bonds to keep the peace. This brought the matter into court. Both the complaints and defendants took the stand and each were followed by a long string of corroborative witnesses. The attorneys on both sides made long and eloquent appeals to the jury after the jury had been out an hour it brought in the following verdict:

"Both parties in the case be put under bonds to keep the peace for two years. The fence where it shuts off the light from the Ipes' home be cut down to four feet high and the cost of the case be assessed equally between the parties."

AMERICANS FORCED TO QUIT MEXICO

Red Cross Steamer Will Bring Two Hundred American Refugees Who Are Leaving Owing to Continued Warfare.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, June 6.—The steamer Mexican, chartered by the American Red Cross, is due at Vera Cruz, Mexico, today and will leave for Calcutta in a day or two with about two hundred American refugees. The Red Cross sent Charles Jenkinson to Vera Cruz to arrange for their departure. These Americans were made destitute by enforced idleness due to the suspension of business by the long continued disorders in Mexico.

WILSON DENIES PARDON TO SENTENCED NEGRO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, June 6.—President Wilson today refused to interfere with the sentence of Nathaniel Green, a negro who last Christmas night assaulted a white woman almost in the shadow of the dome of the capitol. Green will hang Monday and will be the first man to pay a death penalty in the District of Columbia for the felonious assault.

HOPE TO DISCLOSE SOME LOBBYISTS AFTER LONG HUNT

Senate Investigation Committee Continues Its Witch Hunting Today
With More Witnesses.

Washington, June 6.—Although twenty-four senators were yet to be heard when the senate lobby investigation got under way today acting chairman Reed was of the opinion that the investigators would be able to turn the light upon some of the so-called lobbyists subpoenaed before adjournment tonight.

Senator Oliver owner of 1,000 shares of preferred stock in the United States steel corporation told the committee he did not expect the tariff to affect its value. "I have always held that in so far as the iron and steel schedule of the tariff is concerned the United States steel corporation trust is much less manufacturer's stock than small manufacturers' stock," he said. "In addition to the steel stock Senator Oliver had an investment of $15,000, 600 in two Pittsburgh newspapers and about 50,000 shares in the Pittsburgh Coal Company whose products might be affected by the tariff."

"I never sought to influence any senator in regard to the tariff on any of the articles in which I am concerned," he said. "The band was a real treat and one gave a most delightful concert."

Oliver declined to give his investments in copper or in any other lines that he said were not affected by the tariff or other legislation before congress.

"I am perfectly willing to give the public an inventory of everything I own," he said, "but I do not think the purpose of this investigation is to secure an inventory of every senator's property."

Senator Walsh insisted that it was pertinent to ask how much Oliver invested in copper property. "I cannot concede your right to ask that," returned Senator Oliver. "You're dead right," insisted Senator Nelson, republican member of the committee. Senator Reed agreed with Senator Walsh and Senator Cummins. Senator Nelson, chairman of the committee, said he was a tie. Senator Oliver said he kept a record of his investments in Washington. Senator Olney of Delaware said he owned several farms, 1,000 shares in the Pennsylvania Steel Company, 100 shares in the Cambria Steel Company, 1,000 shares in the National Discount Company and no powder stock.

When I came to the senate I had the small amount of stock in the Dupont Powder Company. I have never felt it proper, however, for me to take part in any debate in the senate involving powder questions or to talk with senators about the subject."

Senator Thomas said the only remark he made to him that might be considered "improper" came from Henry T. Oxnard, who represented beet sugar in the senate. Oxnard, he said, was a lobbyist for the sugar industry. When Oxnard was in support of the Underwood bill, Oxnard replied that if the free sugar provision were repealed congress would be here until the sugar flies before the bill could be passed. There has been a persistent effort to influence his action on sugar, wool and lead. Senator Thomas said, through a great number of letters, Oxnard came from Colorado and Rocky Mountain states.

"This correspondence has been so general, so almost universal in my state," he said, "that I am satisfied it is the result of organized efforts inspired and aided by interests directly concerned in the rates of the tariff bill."

To allow the lobby investigating committee to make a more extensive inquiry was at first contemplated, but the senate today extended the time for the committee's report to June 28.

LA FOLLETTE MAKES A SCATHING ATTACK ON SUFFRAGE VETO

Senator in a Signed Editorial Urges
Legislation to Pass Glenn Bill
Over McGovern's Objection.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 6.—Senator La Follette urges the Wisconsin legislature to put the Glenn bill submitting a referendum vote in 1914 a bill concerning the right of suffrage to women over Governor McGovern's veto. He says that "the reasoning of the governor's veto is trivial." In a signed editorial today the senator says that victory can only be won after repeated defeats. He criticizes the governor for waiting to wait to see how suffrage works in other states. He refers the governor to the history of Wisconsin and the fight against conditions prior to 1900.

Against State's Record.
"The states of Platt and Quay, and Hinky Dink were then similar in many respects to our own but in those days did not wait for them to furnish guidance for Wisconsin of the future," writes the senator. "Our flags were never lowered. Our guns were never stacked. Whether before the people or in the legislature, our battered little army never faltered. We closed ranks, quickened the pace and fought on to final victory."

"There is no difference in principle in pressing the same issue before the people in successive campaigns, and in pressing the same issue to the legislature in successive sessions. Our direct primary, our equalization of taxation, our railway commission law, our control of public utilities and other advanced measures were ultimately secured after a number of hard-fought campaigns. And they were successive campaigns, too. It was for that very reason that they won so completely. We not only struck while the iron was hot, but we made it hot and kept it hot by constant striking."

Veto Reason Trivial.
"The governor urges that the suffrage bill is a political campaign. Common political experience teaches us that any state issue receives more thorough consideration on its merits in a state campaign. And even though the amendment were to fail of adoption in 1914, the people will be just so much better prepared to pass upon it in 1916. Why forego the chance to win now? The reasoning of the governor's veto is trivial. The legislature should pass the bill, the veto of the governor to the contrary notwithstanding."

DULUTH NOW FACES NEW LABOR TROUBLE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lumber Mill Workers Plan to Organize Union, Strikers Ten Percent Increase.

Duluth, Minn., June 6.—With more than 1500 men on strike and taking the first steps in the organization of a local mill workers' union, the lumber mills in West Duluth and West End are still shut down today awaiting a compromise with the strikers' executive committee which was instructed last night at a meeting to strike for a raise of 10 percent in the wages of all mill workers. It was decided to organize a local mill workers' union tonight. It is possible that the union may later become identified with the industrial workers of the world, although at present it will be organized merely to include all employees of the local lumber industry.

UNITED STATES COUNSEL FORCES ROBERTS TESTIMONY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, June 6.—A substantial part of the testimony was given by Robert Roberts, Jr., in direct examination for the defense at the hearing of the government's dissolution suit against the United States steel corporation. The industrial workers of the world, although at present it will be organized merely to include all employees of the local lumber industry.

Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, the government attorney, closely cross-examined the witness who is a director of the corporation and the sources of information upon which he had based various statements in his testimony favorable to the defense. Mr. Roberts, while insisting that his statements were correct, admitted he had acquired his information from others.

GRADUATION EXERCISES AT THE LIBRARY SCHOOL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 6.—Commencement exercises of the Wisconsin library school of the University of Wisconsin, will be held today, June 12, with a class of thirty-two graduates. Former Senator W. H. Van Hise of the university will make a brief address, and Richard Lloyd Jones, a Madison editor, will deliver the commencement address.

LUCY DANIELS THOMPSON SUFFRAGE WORKER, DIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

La Crosse, Wis., June 6.—Just a week after the death of her father, Judge John A. Daniels, aged 83, dean of the bench and bar of western Wisconsin, Mrs. Lucy Daniels Thompson, a suffrage worker of national reputation, died yesterday at Washington, D. C., to liver trouble, the same disease which claimed her parent according to word received here. Mrs. Thompson, who was 53 years of age, until recently was a member of history at the university of West Virginia.

"I See by the Papers."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Did you ever stop to think of the deep significance of the above oft-repeated colloquialism?

It is estimated that more than 95 per cent of the population of the United States can read newspapers.

The quotation, or rather the universal repetition, of the same thought signifies to what a tremendous extent the public depends upon the press for its ideas and daily information.

Not so very long ago "I see by the papers" referred nearly always to some news happening, but today the expression is just as likely to indicate store news, the latest fashion, the arrival of some choice merchandise, some change in style, a new idea in apparel, or any one of a hundred interesting and constantly changing bits of information which crowd the pages of the reliable daily papers like THE GAZETTE.

There is, indeed, much worth while that one may "see by the papers" if he will but study the advertising pages.

CONDEMN MILITANCY IN EMPHATIC TERMS

French Women Prominent in Suffrage Declare English Militant Practices Savor of Shamanism.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, June 6.—Madame Jules Segret, wife of a former French cabinet minister and president of the French National Association of Women, is strongly opposed to the tactics adopted by the militant suffragettes in an interview published here today she refers to the derby incident when Miss Emily Wilding Davison threw herself in front of the king's horse "in the name of freedom for women."

"Many of the delegates of the international Congress of Women, now in session in Paris look upon such manifestations with intense disapproval," says Madame Segret. "The militant suffragettes are behaving as though they were insane. Their impudent and dangerous demonstrations hurt the cause of womanhood. They are in England as in France great numbers of suffragists who pursue their aims without employing boisterous expedients to attract attention. Such practices as those adopted by the militant suffragettes savor of charlatanism and turn our cause into ridicule. They are our enemies."

Hard at Work.
London, June 6.—Militant suffragettes today almost succeeded in interrupting the deliberations of the peace conference between the delegates of the Balkan allies and Turkey by organizing a demonstration outside St. James palace during the session.

The Women's Freedom League called a meeting "to protest against the government's supposition that it will secure peace abroad while unable to maintain peace at home."

The police warned the organizers that the meeting was illegal. Three arrests were made.

SEVENTY INJURED IN GERMAN STRIKE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Riot Follows Non-Striker Killing a Striker—Police and Strikers in Pitched Battle.

Settin, Germany, June 6.—A battle between police and strikers in which seventy persons were severely wounded, was fought last night in the suburb of Brunnendorf as the result of the killing of a striker by a non-striker.

The workers in a "wholly" factory went on strike some time ago. Last evening one of them molested a man who had continued at work and in the fight which ensued the striker was stabbed and killed. The strikers later gathered in a great crowd in front of the factory and demanded that the non-striker be handed over to them. Their request was refused and they threatened to demolish the factory.

The local police were unable to cope with the angry strikers and reinforcements were called for from Berlin. Shortly afterward a body of 300 armed policemen arrived in automobiles from headquarters and a pitched battle between them and the strikers ensued. The police freely used their clubs and batons and the strikers replied with pistol shots but were soon overcome by the disciplined force. They were finally dispersed, leaving many of their number wounded.

The casualties were in some cases of a severe nature. Ten policemen and about sixty civilians were treated by surgeons during the night.

WILSON STILL CONSIDERS MCKEYNOLDS TAXATION PLAN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, June 6.—At the White House today it was said President Wilson still was considering Attorney General McKenrold's plan to tax manufacturers of tobacco on a sliding scale and also come to no decision. The plan is to increase the tax on tobacco as the production goes over a certain mark with the view of curbing monopoly.

MISSOURI BANK CLOSED; QUARTER MILLION SHORTAGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 6.—A special to the Post Dispatch says the Pemiscott county bank of Courthouseville, Mo., has closed its doors and is now in the hands of the state bank commissioner as the result of the discovery of an alleged shortage in the accounts. The shortage, according to John H. Cunningham, president, is at least $200,000 and may reach $200,000.

NEW YORK OFFICERS STILL UNDER FIRE

Arraignment of Detective Bureau On Charge of Co-operation With Criminals Held Before Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, June 6.—Arraignment of the detective bureau of the New York police department and a charge that partnership exists between some of the bureau's officers and criminals are continued in the third section of the current committee report on police conditions submitted to the board of aldermen today. A brisk fight over the adoption of the report was expected.

"Benjamin Levy" says the report "who had never been convicted of a crime testified that at the request of officials in the detective bureau he had often induced criminals to commit burglary in order that they might be arrested. He was strongly corroborated by reputable citizens, including an official of an insurance company, a merchant and others."

Levy testified that in one case Deputy Commissioner Dougherty in charge of the detective bureau gave him $25 with which to purchase burglars' tools and after he succeeded in the burglary paid him $75 for his services. City vouchers for these accounts in Levy's favor were found in Deputy Commissioner Dougherty and others involved were subpoenaed by us and asked to waive immunity before giving their testimony. This they refused to do except on condition they were not interviewed without standing the shocking nature of this testimony and corroboration received the commission has taken no action whatever in the premises. It is not surprising that under such last discipline some detectives turn thieves.

In conclusion the report says the bureau is hopelessly inefficient and should be re-organized along drastic lines.

EDITOR SENTENCED TO TERM IN PRISON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Alexander Scott, Editor of "The Weekly Issue," Convicted of Inciting Hostility Against Government.

Paterson, N. J., June 6.—Alexander Scott, editor of "The Weekly Issue," a paper that has been supporting the cause of the silk mill strikers, was sentenced today to serve an indefinite prison term not less than a year and not more than five years and to pay a fine of $250 for "inciting hostility against the government."

Scott was sentenced under an act passed in this state immediately after the death of President McKinley. This makes it a crime to hold up to ridicule any department of the government, municipal state or federal. Scott was arrested last night and taken to the federal prison at Paterson. The case is the first in which the law has been invoked in New Jersey.

JAPAN'S ANSWER WAS MADE PUBLIC TODAY TO WHOLE CABINET

Holds That California Legislation Violates the Treaty Between This Country and Japan.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tokio, June 16.—The rejoinder of Japan to the United States' note on the subject of the California alien land ownership legislation that Japan had passed by the California legislature, declares the spirit of the Japanese-American treaty by discriminating against a friendly power. It points out that even if the question is an economic one, it enters the domain of international relations and therefore becomes a political question.

The note says that the California land legislation violates article I of the Japanese-American treaty of 1911 which authorizes subjects or citizens of the contracting parties to own or lease houses which are inseparable parts of real estate.

It also declares that the new bill violates the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution requiring the states to grant equal protection under its laws to all persons within its jurisdiction.

Read to Cabinet

Washington, June 6.—The outline of Japan's latest answer, contained in the Tokyo dispatches was read to the cabinet at the regular meeting today and sent back to the senate department to Counselor John Bassett Moore.

Diplomats agreed generally that the new point referred to by President Wilson yesterday as opening negotiations for "new and interesting negotiations" with Japan, contained the fourteenth amendment to the constitution. It was accepted that Japan refers to that clause which declares that no state shall "deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

The contention that houses are inseparable parts of real estate is a new one but was not regarded so interesting as the contention of a violation of the fourteenth amendment.

The attending cabinet meeting today Secretary Bryan left for Pittsburgh to be present at a farewell banquet to George W. Gullie, the new ambassador to Japan.

Yasuo Goto, the Japanese ambassador, is expected to leave for an earlier train to attend the same function.

AWAIT THE VERDICT IN DYNAMITE TRIAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Fate of Wood and Atteaux Will Be Decided by Verdict Which May Be Reached Late Today.

Boston, June 6.—The charge to the jury by Judge Crosby was all that remained at the trial of President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Company, Frederick E. Atteaux, a dye manufacturer and Dennis J. Collins, a dog fancier, Cambridge, charged with "planting" dynamite at Lawrence to discredit the striking textile workers.

Final argument in the case which opened Monday, May 19, was delivered yesterday. The case is now in the hands of the jury and a verdict on all counts could not be reached according to a statement by Judge Crosby. The counts specified different and distinct offenses.

Chief interest today centered about the verdict in the case of Wood and Atteaux. Collins has already confessed on the stand to his activities with dynamite. The Lawrence dynamite planters are in the homes of the strikers.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT IN HONOR OF LADIES
VISITORS ARE GIVEN DELIGHTFUL AUTO RIDE THROUGH CITY THIS MORNING

GRAND BALL TONIGHT
Elaborate Reception is Held This Afternoon at the Apollo Hall—Auditorium Beautifully Decorated for Dance.

Entertainment for the lady visitors at the United Commercial Travelers' convention proved most elaborate and great credit is due to the committee of local women who served on the reception committee.

The big event of the morning was an automobile ride throughout the city. Forty or fifty cars secured especially for the occasion were marshaled under the direction of George Hing. The machines left the Granger hotel between nine and ten o'clock with ten or twelve cars in each division. It was planned at first to keep the machines in one group but owing to the necessity of meeting the morning trains to get some of the later visitors, it was advisable to send out the autos in smaller squads.

It had been originally planned to take the ladies to Beloit and back but owing to the muddy conditions of the roads this was abandoned. The route included a visit to the State School for the Blind to the Mississippi golf club through the principal streets and through the residence districts. It was not until twelve o'clock that the ride was completed.

As far as possible there was a Janesville lady in each of the cars to point out the places of interest. Members of the reception committee were: Mesdames Charles Hanson, C. E. Evans, W. E. Clinton, John Fletcher, Charles Reeder, Thomas E. Walsh, and Henry Hanson, and Mrs. J. E. Whitford of Milton and Mrs. John Nicholson of Beloit.

At two o'clock this afternoon there was a reception given for the ladies at the Apollo hall. The rooms were beautifully and elaborately decorated for the occasion with a wealth of cut flowers, roses, carnations, peonies and ferns, palms and other greenery while the colors of the order were also prominently displayed.

The orchestra from the state school for the blind furnished a short program was given as follows:

Reading, "What Came to Dilly's House," Miss Evelyn Welsh Solo selected, C. W. (Buster) Brown of Oshkosh.

Reading, selected, Mrs. Charles Hanson.

Delicious refreshments of sherbert and wafers were served during the afternoon.

The grand social function of the convention is scheduled for this evening at eight-thirty o'clock following the grand band concert at the Court House Park. This will be the ball at the auditorium on South River street.

The hall has been elaborately and tastefully decorated with large boughs and green foliage while from the rafters are hung white streamers decked with green leaves and yellow chrysanthemums. Prof. George L. Hatch's fourteen piece orchestra will furnish the dance music and the whole party promises to be most delightful.

OLDEST CONDUCTOR DIES LAST NIGHT
James Dean of Milwaukee Died Last Night—Served Forty-nine Years on St. Paul Road.

James S. Dean, the oldest conductor on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, died last night at his home on 44 Mineral street, Milwaukee. Mr. Dean was injured several weeks ago on the day he, together with his family and friends, were celebrating his sixty-eighth birthday. Death was due to a fall which caused two ribs to penetrate into the lungs.

He was the oldest conductor in the point of service, on the Milwaukee railroad for forty-nine years, the largest portion of which he served as a passenger conductor. He moved to Milwaukee in 1864 and started as a freight conductor and since that time has made thousands of friends among the traveling public and has had many interesting experiences.

Mr. Dean has never had an accident in which a person was killed or injured. He was a man of good luck because he never had an accident in so many years of service.

The commercial travelers are the special friends of Mr. Dean and in all who work in southern Wisconsin have become acquainted with him. For four years he took a special train of the merchants and manufacturers on their tour over the state but was unable to make his fifth trip this year on account of poor health.

Mr. Dean's run before his retirement the beginning of this year, has been between Mineral Point and Milwaukee. He worked for the last six months the St. Paul officials allowed his name to stay on the company's books until he had completed his forty-ninth year of service.

Ten thousand New York school boys gathered in Central Park today to show 17,000 New York school children and their parents the benefits of physical training and encourage the use of the park playgrounds. The demonstration was arranged by the public school athletic league. The program included exercises drills, racing and a standing broad jump relay by one hundred teams, each of forty-five boys and an interborough all around combination relay in which teams of five boys from each of the five boroughs strove for the highest to the score at running one hundred yards, hurdling and "chinning" themselves on a bar. At the same time there were four games of baseball, four of basketball and one of soccer football, for the city school championship. This demonstration the league hopes will persuade the children to spend their pennies for culture to reach the park playing field instead of spending them for candy and moving picture shows. The league theory is that children get into mischief largely for want of opportunity for normal play.

EXECT NEW PASTOR TO PRESIDE SUNDAY
The Rev. T. Thorson Called by Local Norwegian Lutheran Congregation, Will Be at Services.

Word has been received today by the Rev. W. A. Johnson, retiring pastor of the local Norwegian Lutheran church, that the Rev. T. Thorson of St. Paul, Minn., will be here Sunday for the church services. The Rev. Thorson has received a call from the local church but his acceptance has not as yet been delivered. It is possible that he will notify the local church definitely on Sunday in regard to his intention and his installation will take place at the earliest possible date, should he accept the charge. It is probable that he will deliver the morning sermon on Sunday, although arrangements cannot be made before his arrival. The Rev. Johnson will be present at the morning service.

Mr. Thorson has been highly recommended at the local church. He is a graduate of the Lutheran seminary at St. Paul. He will reside in Minnesota to attend the general conference of the Norwegian Lutheran church in session at Minneapolis, June 11 to 13.

THOMAS JONES DIES FROM HIS INJURIES
Afton Man Whose Skull Was Crushed By Kick of Stallion Passed Away At 6:30 O'clock Yesterday.

Thomas Jones, the Afton man whose skull was fractured late yesterday morning by the kick of a stallion, died from his injuries at Mercy hospital at 6:30 o'clock last evening. He was brought to the hospital by Dr. Wayne A. Wilson in his automobile at about noon. No hopes for his recovery were entertained as the entire left side of his head was crushed in and he was bleeding profusely when found by his wife.

Mr. Jones was born in Wales forty years ago last March and came to the United States thirteen years ago. He first settled in Beloit but did not remain there long, soon taking employment on a horse farm of McElroy Brothers. Ten years ago he was married to Miss Anna Wehler, and shortly afterward went to Afton where he has since resided. Surviving him are his mother and two brothers in Wales, and a sister, John Wehler, living in Turtle township four miles east of Beloit. He also leaves a baby son twenty months old.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, and burial will be made in the Johnson cemetery.

HAS HIGH RANK IN TRAVELERS' ORDER
Manley J. Hemmens, Former Janesville Man, Traveling Representative of National Lodge, Visits City.

Among the prominent visitors at the session of the U. C. T. Grand Council meeting Thursday was Manley J. Hemmens of Green Bay, a former resident of Janesville who was born and raised here. Mr. Hemmens has achieved great prominence in the Commercial Travelers' order, having held the office of supreme counselor of the national convocation to which he was elected two years ago. At present he holds the position of traveling representative of the national lodge, having been appointed by the present supreme counselor. In order to have been honored with these high offices he has held the various chairs of the Wisconsin Grand Council and the lower offices of the national lodge.

Mr. Hemmens could be here for only one day of the convention, but he was much pleased to greet his brother travelers in the city of his birthplace. He left last evening for Des Moines, Iowa, where he will be present at the session of the Iowa Grand Council. Mrs. Hemmens is in the city visiting her sisters, the Misses Mary and Nellie Morrissey.

MRS. WORRY. IT'S GREAT TO BE FASHIONABLE.

Official figures give Cravath, Philadelphia National outfielder, a batting average of .406. This is just another case of a come-back, Cravath having played formerly with the Boston Red Sox and Washington Nationals. Lack of speed was given as an excuse for his release.

The loss of Milburn, star American polo player, in a practice game recently when his pony took a cropper, may mean the loss of the cup. Milburn was counted as one of the strongest defensive players in the game.

Dopesters have figured that more big league pitchers have been driven from the box this year than any year previous in the American league. The unusual weather conditions are blamed for the fact that so many hurlers have been driven to cover.

One doesn't hear much of Jim Thorpe just at present, especially since he enjoyed so much notoriety after being expelled from amateur ranks. According to Chief Meyers, the Giant's star catcher, however, Thorpe is rapidly being developed into an all-around man and, at the rate he is proceeding, Meyers says it won't be long before he will startle the baseball world with his ability.

Perhaps the most amazing feature of the new world's amateur record of 4 minutes 14.25 seconds for the one-mile run, which John Paul Jones set in the Harvard stadium recently, was that he ran the last quarter in 58.15 seconds.

The first quarter was run in 1:01.45 and the second in 1:07.35, or 2:09.25 for the half mile.

Jones reeled off the third quarter in 1:06.34, and then came the last smashing sprint, the tremendous pace at which Jones ran the last part of his race is best shown by the fact that he did the last half mile in 2:05. This was less than ten seconds slower than the time made by G. E. Brown of Yale, the winner of the half mile run, when Jones was beaten.

Another heavyweight champion has arisen in the person of Georges Carpentier of France. This leaves Arthur Pelkey and Carpentier as the two claimants for the title, though both come from opposite sides of the water. Already the fight world is wondering who the promoters will be who will stage an international combat.

There is probably little doubt that Michigan's baseball team is superior to anything the west has seen in many years. On the other hand Yale seems to hold the palm in the east. One is led to speculate on the probable outcome should a series be staged for sectional supremacy.

One of the peculiarities of baseball in the matter of managers is typified by the Cleveland Americans. This club always figured out of the race before the first ball had been thrown inaugurating the season, has been shown to be doing better under youngsters who have assumed the leadership from the ranks than under the old and seasoned veterans. LaJoie failed to land a pennant with all his experience in the big show. It was the same with Jim McGuire and with Harry Davis. Yet under George Stovall the club flashed down the stretch in 1911, looking like world-beaters. And under Birmingham's regime the same aspect is cropping out.

MOTOR BOATS READY FOR BERMUDA RACE

Not Less Than Four Boats Will Start—Winner of Last Year's Contest Among Entries.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Philadelphia, Pa., June 6.—The official measurements were made today and all other preliminary arrangements completed in anticipation of the start tomorrow morning of the annual motor boat race to the Bermudas. It is expected that at least four boats will make the start. Among them will be the Dream, the winner of last year's race. The Dream is owned by Commander Lague of the Philadelphia Yachtmen's Club, which is promoting the race.

The winner of the contest will be given the custody of the Bennett Challenge Cup and will also receive $1,000 in cash. The distance of the race will be 734 nautical miles, starting from the Public Pier in Philadelphia and finishing off Five Fathom Hole at St. David's Head, Bermuda. The rules of the race are the same as the former contests, with few exceptions. The boat's must have a water line length of not over sixty feet and not less than thirty-nine feet. They must be properly equipped with boats, stores, water, nautical instruments, sails, and fuel sufficient to cover the distance one and a half times between Philadelphia and Bermuda. No boat will be allowed to start with less than a crew of six persons, at least one-half of whom must be amateurs.

Explaining Why They Got Married.

In New York recently a lot of post cards were mailed to married men asking them why they had married. Among the replies was one from a man who wrote: "Please don't stir me up. Another man answered: 'I yearned for company. We now have company all the time—her folks.'"

Many Years' Loss of Memory.

A Nevada case is reported where a man wandered away from his wife and three children. For ten years he was not heard from. Passing through the state again something seemed to snap in his head and he knew himself again. He had gone to Texas, married and had another little family. His wife had died only the week before his knowledge of his real self returned. He attributed his loss of memory to overwork while figuring on complicated contracts.

Remains of Old Civilization.

Scattered throughout the Caroline Islands, notably at Ponape and Lele, are massive ruins, one of a sort of Venice, whose origin is wrapped in mystery. Hundreds of acres in some localities are covered by the remains of walls, canals and earthwork of a stupendous character. There are old roads paved with stone blocks, ancient stone platforms, and on the lagoons, ruins of what were once fish weirs. The islands offer a rich field for the archeologist.

At The Style Store

Our forecast of summer styles bears the stamp of authority and reflects with accuracy the last word from accepted arbiters of fashion.

Modes that prevail in the new summer dresses now invite critical inspection.

Lawns, Voiles, Lingerie, Mulls, Marquisette, Chiffons, Ratine, Lace Nets, etc. Cluny, Valenciennes, Ratine, Hand Crochet and Shadow laces are used in trimming.

The Skirts are beautifully trimmed, some very handsome draped effects are shown, and are much more graceful than those shown other seasons.

Low Neck and Short Sleeve styles with touches of trimming, all make a gown of charming refinement.

Simplicity and elegance are combined in the dresses at $4.50, $6.00, $8.00, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00, $20.00, up to $38.00.

The New Summer Waists

Waists that give the finishing touch of style to the costume. ### THE STOCK MARKET.

The unsettled condition of the stock market, which culminated in a break last Tuesday, may not be directly interested in this class of securities, and yet results are liable to be far-reaching. The low level of prices prevailing today have not been paralleled since the panic of 1907, and this applies not only to corporations which are regarded as financially weak, but to the entire list, including the strongest and best managed organizations in the country.

It is difficult to understand why these conditions prevail in an era of universal prosperity, when every industry is fully employed, and when another bumper crop is practically assured.

It may be helpful to remember that American railway securities have long had a black eye in the world's markets, and that great blocks were dumped upon Wall street from London when the break occurred.

Owing to stringent federal and state legislation, this same class of securities have been neglected at home, and as a result the railroads of the country find it extremely difficult to finance their systems, and next to impossible to raise capital for extensions and betterments.

During the past two years, men like the Rockefellers and the late J. Pierpont Morgan have refused to invest their surplus in railroad securities, but have turned their attention to the commercial field, and so the Woolworth five and ten cent stores, the Cigar stores, and other lines have been freely supplied with capital. This is the sort of competition that the retail merchants are obliged to meet today, because of the crazy regulations forced upon us in the interests of reform.

Many people have the notion that the railroads of the country are owned by a few wealthy men, who are not entitled to sympathy when the market breaks, and a panic threatens, but what are the 70,000 stockholders, and it is safe to say that not less than one million people are financially interested in the railway stocks of the country. This army of people are not speculators, but simply investors and, to many of them, a panic means financial ruin.

Industrial stocks, which are always in sympathy with railroad stocks, are still more widely distributed, and all over New England the great bulk of capital is supplied by small investors. In the west the small surplus is invested in real estate or gold bricks, but in the east these small savings go into the industries.

It is idle to claim that a panic or season of depression in the east is of no consequence to the west, for the interests of these two sections are so closely allied that they are mutual. If the stock market falls to rally, it means stringency in the money market, and should this develop to any extent it means disaster to the industrial world and enforced idleness for a lot of people now employed.

The home market is the best market in the world, and when our industries are fully employed, wages are good and the products of the west are in demand at good prices, but an army of idle men in the industrial world, means stagnation all along the line.

During the panic of 1893 the consumption of flour fell off fifty percent if this country and there was little demand for luxuries. The people wore out their old clothes and old shoes, and factories closed their doors, because there was no demand for their goods. The panic of 1893 started in the stock market, and spread over the country until every line of business was paralyzed. Then, as now, a democratic president and congress were tinkering with the tariff. While conditions are analogous, it is to be hoped no serious disturbance will occur. To this end the people can afford to pray for an early adjournment of congress.

THE BRIDGE PROBLEM.

There has been much discussion pro and con on the question of the material for the new bridge across the Rock river at Milwaukee street shall be constructed of iron or steel. The buildings which were destroyed will ever be rebuilt. Public sentiment is against the latter; in fact, enthusiastic citizens would even go further and have the city purchase the property rights, if no other way could be found, to prevent it. The mayor and councilmen decided upon the construction of a cement bridge, in preference to an iron or steel construction, for various reasons. Under the state laws, the engineers of the railroad commission must pass on these plans and the advisability of using the material desired, before even the first steps toward a new bridge can be made. These plans have been submitted to this commission and a report is expected daily. These men will pass upon the matter finally and their decision will be based on conditions of the river at various times of the year, on its flow, its volume and the amount of resistance that such a structure would offer to the stream, as to its safety in time of high water and whether it would obstruct the stream at all. These men are experts in their line of work, paid large salaries for it and have no interest in the matter from a personal point of view. If they decide that concrete is right and proper material to use, they know what they are talking about. The fact that the proposed bridge will offer less obstruction to the river than does the present structure is perhaps not understood. The bridge is to be fifty-four feet wide, five feet wider than the present bridge. The bridge itself will be thirty feet shorter, the fill to be made on the west bank with a concrete wall between the Jeffris buildings. There will be four fifty-two foot spans and the arches have a seven foot rise. There will be but three piers, with the footings ten feet wide submerged below the river bed, and will taper up to four feet where the arch begins. In fact the record for the highest water is still several feet below the bridge floor level. Possibly the anxiety over the question of concrete construction just at this time, as evidenced by a communication in a morning paper, may be explained by the fact that there is a well-founded impression that when the new bridge is built, a stringent building ordinance will be enacted which will compel persons who might build along the sides of the bridge, where the buildings destroyed stood, to make their buildings conform to the material the bridge is constructed of, fire-proof and really a continuation of the bridge construction of the same material. This would make the rebuilding a costly affair and might deter some who now contemplate it. Perhaps this explains the action so far. However, it is safe to say that all question of danger from a concrete bridge will be eliminated by the states' engineers before a permit is granted by the railroad commission for its construction and no one need worry on this account at all.

IS SIGNIFICANT.

Dispatches from Washburn today state that the attempt to recall Mayor Peavey because he enforced the Sunday closing ordinance, failed. As Janesville is about to have a recall election, because the laws and ordinances were enforced the example set by Washburn is extremely interesting. The Fond du Lac Commonwealth comments on the coming election here in the following pointed language: "Janesville seems determined to have a fling at the recall, no matter what happens. After having encountered legal technicalities in their first two attempts to force the recall of Mayor Fathers, the opponents of the first chief executive under commission rule have marshaled their forces in telling array and gone to it, recall petition No. 3 having been filed at high noon Tuesday. Unless some anticipated legal bump details the recall special it is expected to complete its journey on July 22 when, at a special election, the voters of Janesville will decide whether Mayor Fathers is to be recalled or continued on his job for which he seems to be too well fitted to suit some people."

The prisoner who is anxious to get out and begin earning and paying back the $30,000 he stole and squandered has at least as much incentive as most men who fail to earn and save $30,000.

In view of his new, self-established relations with congress, President Wilson ought to be game enough to sit through that three weeks' speech of the tariff threatened by Senator Cummins.

Colonel Roosevelt should never have told of that White House mint bed. Now it will be necessary to double the size of the White House guard.

The suffragist who grabbed the king's derby candidate must have had, among other things, a keen eye for distance and dramatic effect.

The old-age pension bill has been defeated in Illinois. But probably Uncle Joe Cannon and Uncle Shelby Culom are not worrying.

Now that Fuglist Jack Johnson's money is gone he seems confronted with the awful certainty of having to go to work.

Anyway, the London police are getting a lot of wholesome exercise escorting the suffragists to jail and out again.

President Wilson may find it easier to revise the tariff downward than the lobbyists.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

DEFINITION OF AN OPTIMIST.

An optimist is one who does not permit a personal grouch to spread itself over the whole field of his vision.

He does not see in his own disappointed desire the general depravity of mankind.

He does not mistake an inward disturbance of digestion for an outward reign of evil.

He knows that bile is intended to assist in alimentary, not cerebral, processes. In other words, he does not think with his liver.

The optimist is thoroughly imbued with the American spirit, the spirit that is constructive and that is not frightened by trifles.

He does not see in the fly on the nearby window a monster on the distant hillside, nor does he waste ammunition shooting at a gnat in his eyebrow under the error that it is a squirrel in the treetop.

He looks at life sanely and as a whole. He is broad enough to see both the past and the present and to realize therefore that the world is moving in the right direction.

Be an optimist. Get the habit. It helps both the health of the body and that of the pocketbook. Moreover, it makes one possible as a companion to his fellows.

An optimist smiles not only with his mouth, but with his eyes. He is glad not only in his words, but in his heart. He likes folks not only for his own sake, but for theirs.

An optimist helps build up his town, boosts for his community, says a good word for his neighbor.

He is the salt of the earth. He is the light upon a hill. It is good for any nation to have him as a citizen, good for any man or woman to have him as a friend.

EXPOSURE

Grandpa. No sanitary drinking cups were rampant in his day. No. He didn't drink that way. He never heard of microbes on the $50 note.

He kissed the pretty girls and no bacilli got his goat. He used a company old crash towel when he would wipe his face. There were no fancy blotters then a handkerchief round the place.

Unfiltered water he consumed, he didn't sweat the flies. The daily bulletin of health he didn't scrutinize.

He didn't pasteurize the milk and it turned out as how. He violated all the rules set down by experts now. He didn't know about the germs and that is how, I ween, That grandpa lived until he was a hundred and fifteen.

From the Hickeyville Clarion. Uncle Ezra Harkins had laid aside his felt boots and put on his cowhide, which is a sure harbinger of summer in this locality.

Hank Tuums had never been to church before, and when they passed the plate he took out a quarter. He said he would have taken more, but he thought he was entitled to, as he wasn't a regular member.

Miss Anastasia Tibbitts, our soprano, says she is never nervous when she gets up to sing. Perhaps she isn't, but the audience always is.

When a man is a "good feller" his wife is often the last one to find it out and sometimes she never does.

Red Peters enjoys a unique distinction in our town. He is the only Democrat here who doesn't expect to get the postoffice.

Sarah Bernhardt is appearing in motion pictures. Gosh, it seems as though they ought to call 'em emotion pictures.

A subscriber writes to the editor of the Clarion as follows: "Dear Sir:—My wife has went back on me and I can never stand all of this trouble. Yours truly, H. G."

Trouble? Huh! What do you know about trouble? Supposing you had three kids with the measles, the mortgage on your farm was about to be foreclosed, you had a boy on your nose, your groceryman had shut down on the credit, you had four flat tires, and supposing you had five instalments due within a week and you had overdrawn your bank account $49.64. Supposing your neighbor on the left kept a phonograph and your neighbor upstairs was a vocal teacher. Supposing you had dyspepsia, gout, jumping heart, sprains, rheumatism, rheumatism, St. Vitus dance and shingles at the same time. Then you might begin to talk about trouble. You ought to be ashamed of yourself.

PRISMATIC MASSAGE

After New Luxurious Barber Treat.

Tonsorialist Shoots Rays Into "Patient" and He Arises a "New Man."

If you should wander into your barber shop and spy your favorite tonsorialist shoving large electrical sparks about another customer's hair, using only his fingers to accomplish this result, don't turn and run.

And don't try to guess how he does it, for you would rattle your brain and give up, believing that the man who had shaved your face for the last three or four years had been studying magic and neglected to let you in on his secret.

Just pretend you know all about it. Stroll leisurely to a chair and stay there until the familiar call of "next" is yours.

In the meanwhile watch closely and you will see your predecessor receive the latest electrical treatments. Yep, that's it—electrode.

Should the customer call for the entire list here are a few of the things the barber will do to him: Darken his gray hair, produce a rosy color to his cheeks that will last from five to ten hours, cure that terrible headache of the "morning after," relieve back-aches, chase away warts, moles, corns or bunions, and end with the newest massage and shampoo.

If you notice the operation, you will see the barber holds a small glass tube that shoots violet streams of electricity. These sparks go up the victim's fingers, up the arm, around the shoulder and jump out of the ends of the hair when the barber disturbs the locks with his fingers.

The razor manipulators call the apparatus the barber's X-ray, and say it will perform a hundred feats never heard of. To bring a rosy tinge to the cheeks, the violet stream is directed to the desired spots and the reddish color soon looms up.

The stream of sparks is the entire secret, and whatever your ailment is, the barber can effect a cure by turning the violet ray on the location of the pain.

If you want to feel like a new man try a treatment at the barber shop of C. W. Wisch or Frank Nequette, also G. M. Larson, Turkish Bath Parlors.

MARSHFIELD SECURES CONVENTION IN 1914

RACINE LOSES IN RACE BY VOTE OF 54 TO 36 AFTER HARD PRE-CONVENTION FIGHT

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Held This Afternoon With Principal Contest Between Honeycomb and Imig for Office of Grand Sentinel.

Commercial Travelers of Wisconsin will hold their convention at Marshfield in 1914. The northern city won the contest with Racine by a vote of 54 to 36 at the session of the Grand Council this afternoon. Following the first vote one of the Racine delegates moved that the choice of Marshfield be made unanimous which was carried. The result of this fight, which was the important struggle of the convention, came as a surprise to a great many of the delegates although it was apparent this morning that Racine was losing ground while the Marshfield crowd was gaining favor through their active campaigning efforts.

Racine's delegates on the convention floor were: O. J. Hoffner and W. E. Bain. Marshfield's official delegate was Frank R. Upham.

The convention proceeded to the election of officers following the decision in the matter of the next convention. It was predicted that there would be no opposition to the usual plan of moving forward the present officers in the chairs. In that event the result will be approximately as follows: E. U. J. Prichard, Grand Counselor; C. G. Runn, Appleton, junior counselor; H. E. Richards, Milwaukee, past grand counselor; T. E. Prichard, Fond du Lac, grand treasurer; Thos. A. Wensink, Milwaukee, grand secretary; W. F. Ratz, Manitowish, grand conductor; A. E. Banderob, Oshkosh, grand page; and C. B. Evans, Janesville, grand chaplain.

T. E. PRICHARD, GRAND TREASURER, FOND DU LAC.

The contest for the office of grand sentinel was between B. A. Honeycomb of Madison and L. L. Imig of Sheboygan. The latter's election was freely predicted following the victory of Marshfield.

Important Resolution.
An important resolution which will serve to make more intense the campaign for the 1914 convention, was introduced at the session of the Grand Council Thursday afternoon. The resolution provides for a reduction in the per capita tax on the members of the order imposed for the entertainment of the Grand Council from fifty cents to twenty-five cents. The measure passed, as present indications show that it will go into effect after next year. This will mean that the convention city next year will receive some $1,500 to be used in entertaining the delegates, while in 1915 there will be half that sum allowed.

Racine and Marshfield are both keen to land the honor for next year. Racine, however, is recognized to hold the inside track owing to the fact that their council extended an invitation to the 1913 meeting in competition with Marshfield. While this is the first attempt of the Marshfield lodge to secure the session, it has generally been the custom to honor the city that renews an invitation extending the year previous. Notwithstanding this year the Marshfield men have started campaigning early and have already enlisted a large following among the men from the northern part of the state. They have distributed a large number of Marshfield badges and have placed in conspicuous places placards bearing the inscription, "Marshfield 1914." The vote on the next convention city will be taken tomorrow morning.

Hold Fire Initiative.
The attraction last evening was the conferring of the initiatory degree on three candidates for admission to the Janesville Council, No. 108. The three men to take the degree were: C. H. Ferguson and J. Wilbur of this city and M. A. Stevenson of Beloit. The degree team of Milwaukee Council, No. 54, out on the work in beautiful style and the ceremonies were witnessed by over two hundred members of the order.

ANNIVERSARY PLANS NEARLY COMPLETED

Banquet of Trinity Church Parish to Be Served at Y. M. C. A. Building

—Many Respond to Invitations.

Five hundred invitations have been sent out to present and past members of Trinity Episcopal church, former rectors and members of the choir, and all rectors in the Diocese of Milwaukee to attend the celebration of the sixty-fifth anniversary of the organization of Trinity church which will be held during the week beginning June 25. Responses are coming in and it is probable that a large number from outside the city will be present. Letters of regret at their inability to attend have been received by the Rev. Father Henry Willmann from the Rev. George Wallace of Tokio, Japan, the Rev. Thomas McLean of Duluth, Minn., and the Rev. W. H. Wooton of South Pasadena, California.

The services for Sunday, June 15, will open with a corporate communion of all the members of the parish at 7:00 a. m. Bishop Webb acting celebrant. At 10:30 o'clock there will be a processional, communion, and sermon by Bishop Webb. The Rev. F. L. Maryon, rector of Kemper Hall, Kenosha, will be present and take part in the service. Choral evensong, confirmation of a class, and a sermon by Bishop Webb will constitute the evening service at 7:30 o'clock. The Homecoming banquet will be served at the new banquet hall in the Y. M. C. A. building on Monday evening. In order that all members of the parish may be free to attend and enjoy the post-prandial program the ladies auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will serve the banquet. The chairman of the banquet committee reports that a number of acceptances have been received and desires that all members of the parish notify him of their intention to attend early next week. The Rev. H. C. Boissier of Lake Geneva will be present as well as other former rectors.

Moral Indifference.
If ignorance and passion are the foes of popular morality, it must be confessed that moral indifference is the malady of the cultivated classes. The modern separation of enlightenment and virtue, of thought and conscience, of the intellectual aristocracy from the honest and vulgar crowd, is the greatest danger that can threaten liberty. — Henri Frederic Amiel.

HIGH SCHOOL HOLDS ENJOYABLE BANQUET

Alumni Association of Evansville School Entertained in Honor of Graduating Class.

Evansville, May 25.—The Alumni Association of the Evansville High School held its annual reunion last evening in the first Baptist church, the dinner being served by the ladies of the church.

Mrs. Walter Green, president of the association, acting as toastmaster, gave the welcoming address to the new alumni, to which Earl Fellows graciously responded. Lyman Gillies gave an interesting toast on the athletic side of the E. H. S. in '33, and Miss Margaret Colony talked upon "Teachers That Touched." Hon. L. E. Gettle of Madison, former principal here, was present and gave an interesting address upon "Public Spirit." Mrs. Nettie Copeland and Miss Frances Seales gave vocal solos and the class of '13 sang their class song. Class yell and songs made the church ring, each class attempting to outdo the other. After the evening's program all adjourned to the hall where dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

Social and Personal.

Mrs. H. R. Richardson entertains at her home Tuesday evening, the program being as follows:

Margaret Robson was born November 10, 1885 in Medina, New York, and was the oldest of three children.

With her parents she came to Wisconsin when a child, grew to womanhood and April 23, 1903 was united in marriage to Charles M. Clifford. The early part of their married life was spent on a farm in Madison and later moved to Evansville, which has since been their home.

Mrs. Clifford died January 6, 1910, Mr. Clifford remaining in the home after his death.

Mrs. Clifford was a member of the M. E. church for which she was a faithful worker. She leaves to mourn her loss the children, Mrs. Rose Van Wart and Gladys Clifford of Evansville. Ray of Beloit and Fred of Milwaukee; two sisters, Mrs. Cash Howard of Evansville, and Mrs. Marcela Clifford of Canada; one half sister, Mrs. Stella Case of Canbyville, and two half brothers, Hyatt and Charles Weaver of this city. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, Rev. Charles E. Coon officiating. Interment in Maple Hill cemetery.

WILL BUILD BRIDGE OVER SPRING BROOK

Bids for Construction Will Be Advertised for Same Time as These for Milwaukee Street Bridge.

Bids for the construction of a bridge over Spring Brook on South Main street, or the sugar factory road, as that portion of it is sometimes called, will be advertised for at the same time as bids for the construction of the Milwaukee street bridge. The existing wooden bridge is in such bad condition that it was thought wise to Milwaukee street bridge have been completed and are now in the hands of the printer. The report of the Railway Commission on the plans submitted for their inspection is expected daily and from informal statements made by its representatives it is expected that it will be of a favorable nature.

The advantages of a concrete bridge over a steel plate girder bridge on this site are very manifest. The clearance of the arches according to the plans of the proposed structure are but thirty-three inches from the surface of the roadway and no side bridge could be installed at this point without bringing the grades above the roadway much more and shorter spans are used, increasing the number of piers and resistance to the flow of the stream.

PROPOSED MAIN STREET, SPRING BROOK BRIDGE.

make no further repairs and replace it this season. Plans for a concrete bridge at this point were adopted by the last Common Council in February of last year. It will be seventy-two feet in length, have three spans, and be twenty-six feet wide over all. A concrete ballustrade with square pilasters will be placed on each side. The estimated cost of the structure is $8,000, and money was appropriated for its construction by the old Common Council.

Specifications for the proposed

The clearance to the center of the arches of the proposed bridge is 3 1/2 feet higher than that under the Court street bridge which is of the plain girder type. The ordinary high water level is six feet below the crown of the arch, and the piers will not form an obstruction to the flow of the water as the piling that supports the existing bridge. The platforms and basements under the buildings burned constituted a menace during high water that will not exist when the new bridge is built.

BIG APPROPRIATION TO NORMAL SCHOOLS

Join Educational Committee Favors
Maximum Amounts Recommended by Normal Regents.

Madison, Wis., June 6.—The joint committee on education was unanimously of the opinion yesterday that the normal schools "should be given the maximum amount recommended by the board of normal regents. Included is an appropriation to begin a systematic plan of building dormitories. For this purpose $100,000 a year for three years is asked.

The normal schools are asking for a substantial increase feeling that increased expenditures are necessary to make the schools of the largest possible service. The additional income from the one-eighth mill tax desired amounts to $236,000 per year. The increases needed to carry out the board's advanced policy for the normals amounts to $297,480 annually. This added to $475,000, the amount received from the one-eighth mill tax, makes a total of $772,480. A one-fourth of a mill tax would probably yield $710,000. The interest from the normal school fund is about $30,000. The local collections at the schools, excluding the training schools, will be about $40,000. The total available, if the desired increase be granted would be $840,480. This is $70,480 in excess of the estimate of the regents. The balance would be expended annually for permanent improvements until the growth of the schools required it for annual expenditures.

Estimated Improvements.
The board was not in regard to absolutely necessary improvements through the addition of buildings and grounds, as follows: La Crosse, gymnasium, main physical education building, glass rooms, $75,000; land and improvements thereon, $35,000; total, $110,000.

Milwaukee: land, $60,000; power house, $65,000; total, $125,000.
Oshkosh: land $30,000; auditorium building (rebuilding), $100,000; total, $130,000.

Platteville: lands, $12,000; building and building improvements, $62,000; total, $74,000.

Superior: land, $20,000; additional building, $70,000; total, $90,000.
Whitewater: gymnasium building $36,000.

Total for planting and grading at the eight schools, vacuum cleaner, steam heating system at seven schools, lighting and power plants at seven schools, and additional equipment for training schools, $108,000.

Total for improvements, $905,000.
The state tax asked for the normal schools is expected to yield approximately $709,500 per year.

Workmen's Compensation Act.
Madison, Wis., June 6.—The bill amending the workmen's compensation law whose enactment has been urged by the industrial commission was advanced to engrossment in the senate last night in its assembly form. It abolishes the defense of contributory negligence, adopts the New Jersey fixed compensation for partial disability, and allows six instead of four times the annual wage for total disability.

The senate was called upon to reconsider its recent action in killing the Nye bill to send a commission to represent Wisconsin's resources at the Norwegian national anniversary celebration at Christiania next year. Senator Bosshart, who was instrumental in defeating the bill, moved reconsideration, saying there had appeared a demand for the representation of this state's agricultural and commercial interests. The bill was an incentive to immigration to the Badger state.

The senate put through the fencing bill prohibiting untrue misleading or deceptive advertisements, either in newspapers, periodicals or circulars printed in this state. The penalties hit the advertisers, the publishers being relieved of liability provided they have used due diligence in ascertaining the true character of the advertisement. The Holmes stock and bond amendment bill went through the senate. Both these bills go to the governor.

The assembly passed the bill giving electioneers in public and private industry, except in agricultural or domestic pursuits, one day's rest in seven cases of intermittent employment. The law may be suspended by order of the industrial commission, or in the case of public utilities by the railroad commission.

The Urgubart bill forbidding the depositing of deleterious substances in waters of the state passed the assembly. Action on the Wolf River improvement company bill, creating a system of water reservoirs on the Wolf river, was deferred until this morning.

The assembly concurred in the Killebrew court bill, one of the chief provisions of which raises the salary of circuit judges from $5,000 to $7,000 and the A. E. Martin bill providing that where a person has been sentenced to the Milwaukee house of correction for three or more times, he may be sent back to the state penitentiary for life.

These bills now go to the governor.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Goes to Europe: The Rev. Howard Gold, pastor of the English Lutheran church at Madison, and well known Lutheran minister in this city, whom he addressed a short time ago, will leave on June 13, for a trip to Europe. He will make a study of social problems and their treatment in the cities of Germany and the Scandinavian countries, attend the world Sunday school convention at Zurich, Switzerland, and the World Conference of Lutherans at Nurnberg early in September.

Plant Annual Picnic: The fifteenth annual picnic of the employees of the Janesville Machine company will be held at Harlem park on Saturday, June 14th. Special cars will take the employees and their families to the picnic grounds, and the Bower City band will accompany them to give inspiring music throughout the day.

Recovering from Injuries: Daniel S. Cummings, 410 North Bluff street, who was severely bruised in a runaway several days ago, when he was thrown underneath a heavy load of ladders and painters staging is recovering rapidly, although he is still quite lame. A part of one ear had to be removed as it did not "knit" properly.

Horse Is Stolen: John L. Halpin, Captain Commanding the Detective Bureau at Chicago has reported to the local police the theft of a horse from J. A. Sullivan, 5081 Lake street, that city. The animal is a bright bay color, has short tail, weighs 1000 pounds and stands 15.2 hands high. Harness is silver trimmed with leather on bridle. The buggy is trimmed with black leather, and letter "B" on seat. Fifty dollars is offered for its recovery.

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

ALBERT PATSON TERNHINE

LOUIS RIEL.

Many an Indian of the northwest and many Canadian half-breeds firmly believe that a certain blue-eyed human firebrand, Louis Riel by name, will some day arise from the dead and lead his people to victory against the English. A number of less superstitious people in Canada believed for years that "the blue-eyed Indian" had never died; but that he is somewhere biding his time in a place of safety, waiting to bring riot and bloodshed once more to the Dominion's British settlers.

Louis Riel was a half-breed of the "Metis" race of Franco-Indians. His father was a leader of the Metis and headed an uprising in 1849 against the mighty Hudson Bay company in Canada. Louis was born October 23, 1844. He studied at the Montreal Jesuit college with the idea of becoming a priest. But when he went to take holy orders he was for some reason refused ordination. In other words, he was turned loose on the world with an excellent education, a keen knowledge of white men and their ways, a gift for organization, a wild genius for oratory and—as was afterward claimed—a well-developed case of egotistic insanity. Such a man could do much among the local Indians and excitable French-Indian half-breeds.

The "Human Firebrand."

The Hudson Bay company—one of the most gigantic trusts ever launched—had for a long time controlled the fur trade, etc., of the northwest. The company was the master and patron of thousands of half-breeds and Indians. In the late sixties the Canadian government bought and assumed control of the Manitoba territories hitherto ruled by the company. The natives bitterly resented this change. They hated the English. They loved the company; although more than once they had rebelled against its stern orders. Riel, by fiery speeches, persuaded the hunters and savages that they were entitled to part of the money paid by the government for the company lands. He made formal demand for this money. The Canadian authorities refused. Then Riel called his people to arms.

William McDougall was sent by the British officials to assume control of their newly acquired tract of country as lieutenant governor. At the head of a little army of half-breeds and Indians, Louis Riel forbade McDougall's entrance into the territory. Riel captured Fort Garry, and other strong holds, and caused himself to be elected president of a "provisional government."

Thus, when only twenty-five years old, Louis Riel, half-breed Indian, ex-theological student and professional insurrectionist, became known to his people as "President Riel." From December 8, 1869, to August 24, 1870, he ruled his wild republic with firm hand. As one of the youngest presidents in all history, defended his new title most gallantly, capturing an entire British expedition of 48 men, and even ordering at least one execution.

But Lieut. Col. Garnet Wolseley (later famous as Lord Wolseley) marched against him with 1,000 regulars. Riel had no army competent to withstand such a force. So he fled from Fort Garry and escaped into the United States. The Canadian government offered a $5,000 reward for his arrest. But when, a little later, he came back to Manitoba, no one laid hands on him. In fact, three years afterward he was elected by his local admirers a member of the Canadian parliament. This was too much for even so patient a government as that of the Dominion. Riel was not allowed to take his seat in parliament. But, next year, in 1874, he was re-elected. He went to the parliament house at Ottawa, signed his name to the rolls and was sworn in as a member. But when the news of this step reached the English townfolk of Ottawa there was a storm of indignation and threats that forced the half-breed "ex-president" to flee from the city. After which he was formally expelled from parliament. Again, in the fall of the same year, his faithful followers elected him, but this time, the government declared him an outlaw. Then his brain apparently broke down and for some months he was confined in a Quebec lunatic asylum.

A Mad Prophecy.
Thence Riel moved to Montana, but a deputation of Indians and half-breeds followed and begged him to come to Manitoba again and fight for their rights. So back he came. He found a dispute raging between the natives and the English. A second time he put himself at the head of a "provisional government" in the northwest, captured the Duck Lake Indian agent and others and seized Canadian official stores. Next he thrashed a force of mounted police and volunteers sent to crush him, and it was not until a larger body of troops was hurled against him that he was defeated and captured. Riel was tried for treason. His counsel made an insanity plea. Riel declared himself perfectly sane and shouted:

"If you put me to death I shall rise again!"

He was hanged November 16, 1885. There was treacherous indignation at what was deemed the needlessly severe action of the government in putting a lunatic to death.

WINDOW VENTILATOR

Admits Fresh Air to Room, But Does Not Cause a Draft.

A window ventilator that a handy boy can make for his mother has recently been put on the market. A piece of board about four or five inches wide and as long as the inside of the window is wide, has a rectangular space cut out of its center and this space covered with a wire screen. A tin shield, or "roof," is nailed above this screened opening to keep out the rain. This side of the board is turned outward. On the inner side the opening leads into a rough-like attachment that has a lid hinged to it. The air enters through the screen and the "rough" deflects it toward the ceiling, whence, being colder than the air in the room and therefore heavier, it gently descends, keeping the atmosphere pure and of a pleasant temperature. There is no draft and no obstruction of the light, as the device fits under the window sash.

Gift of Books.

When I consider what some books have done for the world, and what they are doing, how they keep up our hope, awaken new courage and faith, soothe pain, give an ideal life to those whose hours are cold and hard, bind together distant ages and foreign lands, create new worlds of beauty, bring down truth from heaven; I give eternal blessings for this gift, and thank God for books.—James Freeman Clark.

The area of low barometer that was in the northwest yesterday has reached the Lake Region of the Upper Mississippi Valley. It has been added by rising temperature in the front, showers and thunderstorms along axis and falling temperature in its rear in Western Canada. The rains adding this disturbance have been light, except in Northwestern Wisconsin and half an inch or more has fallen. The barometer is high on the Atlantic Coast, and the weather generally fair.

An area of high pressure prevails in the Northern Rocky Mountains and on the Northern Plains, and is attended by fair cool weather.

SENATOR'S SISTER
IS TO WED A TEXAN

Miss Olga Sheppard, sister of Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, is soon to become the bride of Mr. Cullen Thomas of Texarkana, Texas. Senator Sheppard, with his wife and little daughter Janet, has already left Washington for his home to attend the wedding.

HE DECLARES HE IS PRESIDENT'S FRIEND

H. P. Davison.

Henry P. Davison, one of the leading members of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., was quoted the other day in an interview cabled from Europe as severely censuring some of the acts of President Wilson.

The Morgan firm has taken occasion to telegraph Secretary of State Bryan that Mr. Davison denies having given an interview of any sort. The firm also assured the secretary of its friendship for the administration.

The report from Europe quoted Davison as saying the withdrawal of the U. S. government from the Chinese loan was a piece of politics calculated to appeal to the mob.

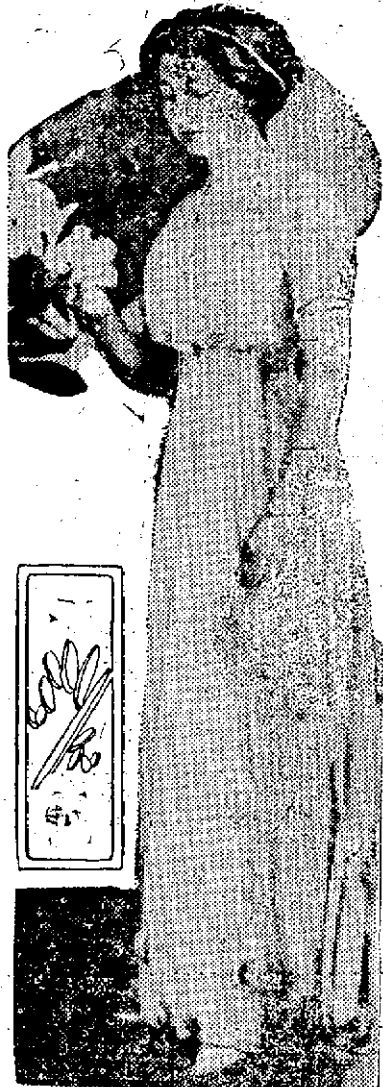

To Be Sure.

A professional person with any self-respect should avoid competing in things which only show up his or her ignorance.

Foolish Self-Condensation.

No comfort for the living or the dead can be won from vain self-condemnation. No consolation can be gained while you nurse the imagining that a certain trouble might have been avoided. What we have to do is to try to escape from other troubles that are truly avoidable—troubles of a useless remorse, a present neglect, a listless apathy that will not reach forth for the good things still to be gathered.—Exchange.

PRINCESS LUISE
RESEMBLES MOTHER

Princess Louise.

One of the latest pictures of Princess Victoria Louise of Germany—showing her in a white, lightly flowing robe, her small head slightly bent, before a tall vase of white lilies—resembles a charming picture of her mother, the kaiserin, in her youth. In each the grace of lines that always characterized the kaiserin is noticeable.

The English in the princess's makeup betrays itself in her manner and expression. The girlish figure, the frank, innocently natural manner, might well belong to an English girl, and the English nationality might easily be believed from her appearance.

Sickroom Screen.

A screen in the sickroom is almost indispensable, for it is needed to keep light from the patient's eyes, to guard the bed from drafts, or shut out the sight of medicine bottles and so forth. An excellent sanitary screen is made by tacking white oilcloth on to a frame, then painting on in oil a pretty scene as birds or butterflies. These screens can be washed as often as necessary.

Evidently Some Snorer.

A woman woke her husband during a storm the other night, and said:—"I do wish you would stop snoring, for I want to hear it thunder."

Record for Laziness.

The laziest man is reported in Arkansas, where he conducts a shoe store in a little town. A woman entered his shop one day and said she wanted to buy a pair of shoes. The lazy man, who was sitting on a box at one end of his establishment, looked at her, yawned wearily, and then said: "I can't wait on you today. Come in some time when I'm standin' up."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Prince Founder of Great Company.
Prince Rupert and his fellow-adventurers, with a charter granted by Charles II., were the pioneers of the now famous Hudson Bay Company.

Gave Away Formula.

About forty years ago there was advertised on London billboards a drink called Robur, said to be good for every ailment and, incidentally, the long sought after elixir of life. One was invited to send for free samples, and its marvelous properties were the subject of everybody's conversation. Robur might have been sold to this day had not some one, without the fear of a libel action before his eyes, divulged its secret formula—cold tea enlivened by rum. From that moment it fell as rapidly as it had risen, for people could make their own Robur if they wanted it.

Tree Absorbed Lamp Post.

When an old elm tree in the avenue at Bushey Park, near London, was cut down, the iron framework of an old street lamp was found embedded in the trunk to a depth of several inches about 25 feet from the ground. It is believed that the lamp must have been nailed to the tree many years ago and gradually became surrounded by the wood.

Hardest to Do.

Chilton being asked what were the most difficult things, replied: "To keep secrets, to make a good use of leisure, and to bear being wronged."

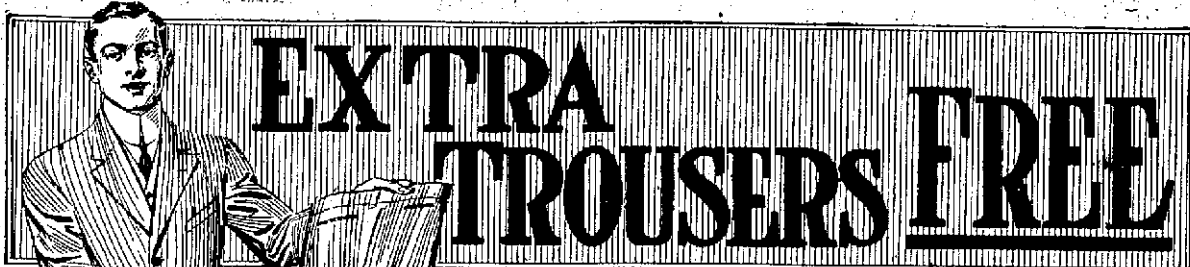

Wondering Where the "Space" Is.

You know how crowded a second-hand furniture store is, always piled high with odds and ends of household goods. Well, there is such a shop on the South side, in a one-story shack, which the other day posted this sign in the window: "Space for rent." "I suppose," remarked a man who was passing, "there must be a vacancy under one of the tables."—Kansas City Star.

No Time.

"Have you ever had nervous prostration?" "No. I work for a salary which stops when I'm not on my job."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Best Message

By REV. FARLEY E. ZARTMANN, D.D.,
Secretary of Extension Department of Meady Bible Institute, Chicago

"That your joy might be full." The message is all inclusive—to all people. In the Psalms we read that Christ shall have dominion from sea to sea. There is no narrowness in God's plan. "There's a wideness in God's mercy like the wideness of the sea." This babe born in Bethlehem is he who shall rule in Jerusalem, and in Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth. "All kings shall bow down before him." There is no better day than Christmas, and no higher theme and no greater motive for an appeal for our interest in foreign missions, for this same Saviour said: "Go ye into all the world."

This is the best message because it announced the Saviour. Redemption is the greatest factor in human history; although it reminds us of the awful fact of sin; for these two explain all mystery and unravel all history. Sin is the ground, redemption the process of all salvation. Sin makes redemption necessary; redemption shows us God, and we shout: "What a wonderful Saviour!" In a very true sense God was a Redeemer before he was a Creator. This Saviour is announced as Christ and Lord, and every word is emphatic. Christ is the Messiah who was to come, and as Lord he takes his place as ruler in the hearts and lives of those who accept him.

The emphasis of the message is upon the fact that Jesus is the Saviour. There is one line that runs through all the Bible; it is the scarlet thread of the blood of Christ. There is one fact that shines out on every page of the book, the face of One who became man for us men and for our salvation. This is the message of prophets and angels, of types and symbols, of persons and sacrifices; the multitudes have found it true. It reminds one of the first words of a song used in the south:

"How do I know my Lord is divine?
He saves me from my sin."

The message is personal—"Unto you." Blessed be the night that song was born; blessed be the Saviour who came and who now lives in his saints; blessed be the God who sent such a wonderful redemption, and said: "Whosoever believeth in him shall not perish." So the blessing reaches me and that means Christmas for my soul and redemption for me, and peace, and joy, and Christ, and Heaven—if I will. How is it with you? Has Christ been born unto you as a Saviour? Have you accepted the greatest gift God could make? Have you made the Babe of Bethlehem your Saviour and Christ and Lord?

"O holy child of Bethlehem,
Descend to us, we pray;
Cast out our sin, and enter in,
Be born in us today.
We hear the Christmas angels
The great glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord Emmanuel!"

Joseph Forgives His Brethren. Gen. xlv:1-xlv:7.

Golden Text—Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity! Ps. cxxxiii:1. (1) Verses 1-4—Is it ever wise when our hearts are greatly moved to give vent to our feelings before strangers? Why?

(2) Which is the better, when in great joy or sorrow, to repress our feelings or give vent to them as Joseph did?

(3) How would you justify Joseph for putting his brethren through such torture as he did?

(4) Let this scene engrave itself on your imagination, and then say what the thoughts and feelings of these men were as they stood before Joseph at this dramatic moment. (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(5) Does a sin twenty-two years old, when it is resurrected, give the conscience the same acute sense of guilt as a sin more recently committed? Give your reasons.

(6) What was it that, at that moment brought to Joseph such intense feeling that he could not keep from sobbing aloud?

(7) Verses 5-8—Was Joseph's advice that they "Be not grieved nor angry with yourselves" wise or foolish, and why?

(8) What evidence is there, if any, that God did really send Joseph into Egypt?

(9) Granted that God sent Joseph into Egypt, would you say or not, and why, that God had anything to do with his brothers selling him into Egypt as a slave?

(10) Would you say that Joseph's brothers were as guilty as if Joseph had lived and died a slave? Give your reasons.

(11) Verses 9-13—As a rule, is the love of grownup sons as tender toward their parents as when they were children?

(12) Are grownup sons under obligation to God to care for their aged parents if they so need? Why?

(13) Would you say, and why, that a good father rejoices as much in the success of a son as if it were his own success?

(14) Verses 14-15—What can you say in commendation of grownup men, brothers, telling, with tears, how much they love one another?

(15) Verses 16-20—When we find such princely generosity in a so-called heathen, as Judah's Pharaoh, would you say, and why, that it was inspired by our God?

(16) Verses 21-24—Seeing Joseph gave Benjamin so very much more than he gave the rest, did they have any right to be offended? Why?

(17) Verses 25-28—Give a word picture of Jacob's feelings when he realized that Joseph was yet alive.

(18) Chapter xlvii:7—How many persons composed Jacob's company which went into Egypt?

(19) In what manner had Jacob been accustomed to have visions of God?

(20) May a Christian now expect God to reveal to him anything other than through his reason? Give your reasons.

SEMINARY BANQUET MEMORABLE AFFAIR

Alumni Have Rousing Time and Vote to Look into Matter of a New Building—Evansville News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, June 6.—The most successful banquet ever held by the seminary was given Wednesday evening at the Central House, about one hundred being present. The hotel was tastefully decorated with pennants and flags and the tables were prettily decked with cut flowers. After the banquet dinner chairs were pushed back and the evening's program given. Prof. Stohl held the position of toastmaster, toasts being given as follows:

Mr. West, the oldest resident of Evansville, toasted the "Early Days of the Seminary."

W. W. Gillies gave a talk on the prominent men of today, alumni and former seminary students. In concluding his address Mr. Gillies presented to the seminary, to be kept as a historic record, minutes of the literary meetings of the seminary dating as far back as 1837, and in which the names of such men as Senator Le Foll and Senator Pettigrew, former seminary students, occurred frequently. It was thought that this book was lost and great pleasure was experienced at its chance recovery by Mr. Gillies.

H. D. Fay responded to a toast on the subject of the relation of the Alumni Association to the school and its life.

Miss Marjorie Wilder gave a toast on the Junior college class, and Merwin Noble, in behalf of the senior class of this year, responded to the cordial welcome extended to them as new alumni.

Mrs. Panny Denison favored them with a solo which was heartily enjoyed.

Splendid music was furnished throughout the evening by Holmes orchestra and the concluding toast was given by President Blews on "The New Building." Here Mr. Blews showed how the enrollment of the school had outgrown the capacity of the old building and that a new brick building was necessary at once in order to provide a gymnasium, library, art studio and laboratories.

At the conclusion of his toast the board of trustees appointed the following committee to look up the matter of the new building—Rev. B. D. Fay, President Blews, S. D. Frook, O. P. Perries and T. C. Wendell.

Many out of town guests and members of the Alumni association were present at the banquet which was not only such a social success, but was the beginning of a movement for a new building which would mean so much to the school and the town.

Evansville Locals.

Next Monday evening at 7:30 Mrs. H. R. Richardson entertains at a piano evening at her home, the program being as follows: "Busy as a Bee" from Czerny's studies. "On the Meadow" from "Saltalio" by Eleanor Porter. Scale study from Czerny.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

ARE YOU A SNOB?

ARE you a snob? Before you give me an emphatic "No" to that, please let me explain what I mean by it. Are you absolutely and entirely democratic? Do you ever make class distinctions in your mind, if not in your speech? Do you never find yourself in awe of some new acquaintance because you have been told that he has a great deal of money? Are you never ashamed when one of your more fashionable friends sees you on the street with some shabbily dressed acquaintance? Do you never look down on people for the kind of work they do? Do you never try to make yourself out richer than you are? Do you never boast about your family connections?

If you can honestly answer "No" to all these questions you may emphatically answer "No" to that, first question. But can you? I am afraid not. I am afraid the man who hasn't a single drop of snobbish blood in his veins would be far harder to find than Diogenes' honest man. I have known a young girl of a refined and educated family, who was suddenly thrown on her own resources by death and financial loss. The only way for her to earn her living seemed to be for her to go behind the counter. She lived in a small town which is supposed to be the most democratic place on earth, and yet "it had been a little shock to think of being a clerk in a store," she says. "For all the democracy of our town, there were some distinctions. I didn't want to do it. I guess most of us at heart are snobs, born with an instinct to climb. We are only qualified democrats, the best of us. I had always supposed I looked on a certain friend of my mother's who worked in a shop as quite as good as any one else; now, however, I found that I had really liked her."

I suspect that most of us have experiences like that when we realize suddenly that we have been entertaining some such feelings of superiority. I know I have. I love the democracy. There is nothing that I desire of myself more ardently than that I may be absolutely and consistently democratic, and yet again and again I am ashamed to find myself entertaining snobbish feelings.

Not that I have anything to be snobbish about, but that's the queer part of it. One doesn't need to have. In the play "Kismet" the beggar who has just been exiled by the Calif. vents his unhappiness upon a beggar of a lower order. As he laments the misfortune of his creature, he moralizes to himself, "To the Calif I am dirt, but to the dirt I am Calif."

So we all must be Calif to somebody in the kingdom of our own fancies. Democracy of government is hard to win; but infinitely more difficult to bring about is that greater democracy, the democracy of the heart. I wonder if it will ever come.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please tell me what is good for gray hair, as I am only twenty-three years old, and my hair is turning gray? (2) The ends are also splitting. (3) What is the matter with a young man, when he is nice looking and dresses nice, but can't get any sweethearts? He seems to be nice to them and they won't take him somehow. (4) How is the best way to punish a boy of four years? I have tried spankings and he doesn't seem to care about them much. (5) A friend of mine wants to know what she can do to please her husband? She does all she can to keep him from coming home at night mad, but he is all riled up every night and wants to fuss with her. (6) Is my writing bad? (7) What is good for sunken eyes?

THEIRMA. (1) Perhaps your health is run down. Eat nourishing food and take outdoor exercise. (2) No, don't worry over work too hard. Rub a little coconut oil into the scalp every day and brush the hair well at least once a month. Singe the ends once a month. Massage the scalp with the fingers a good deal. (3) Maybe he is too "fresh" with the girls, or he may be a bore. Girls don't like either kind. (4) You might try depriving him of something he really cares about—perhaps his supper or playing with other children. (5) I don't know why you do it and be very firm about carrying out your purpose. (6) Perhaps she tries too hard to please him. That is apt to rile some men. Let her be more independent. (7) The girl might be away from home some evenings. (8) It is fairly good. (9) Practice puffing out the cheeks as often as possible during the day. Drink milk and eat good water and eat plenty of nourishing food.

Dear Mrs. Thompson. I am a girl of nineteen. (1) Is it quite proper for me to travel alone half way across the continent to attend a school? (2)

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Worth Knowing.

If you have a steel range try cleaning it all over with an oiled rag, part hard and coal oil. Keep it for that. It keeps stove much nicer than stove blacking any kind. Before cleaning make two bags of lard to fit your room, and see how much better it is than trying the old way of cleaning with a cloth. To keep meat without ice—When your meat comes put it in a kettle with enough water to cover and bring it just to the boiling point, then set away till next day and finish just as you desire it. This way it keeps and is fresh as if taken from the ice.

The Table. Sea Foam Candy—Three cups of light brown sugar, one-half cup of water. One tablespoon of vinegar. Boil without stirring until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove syrup from fire and when it stops bubbling pour slowly into stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, stirring constantly. Beat until the mixture will hold its shape. Then add one teaspoon vanilla. Drop in small rough piles on buttered paper.

Strawberry Jam—To six pounds of pulped berries allow four and a half pounds of sugar. Crush the berries with the back of a wooden spoon and add pulp and juice over the fire in a preserving kettle, bring to a boil, and after this cook for half an hour, stirring often. Add the sugar at the end of the half hour, cook twenty minutes more and put boiling hot into jars. Pour the fire with two cups of boiling water and stir until clear. Add a half cup of granulated sugar and set aside until cool, then stir in a quart of berries, hulled, put the berries on the ice and leave it there until cold. Serve with cream and sugar. Pineapple Salad—Arrange pineapple on lettuce leaves, allowing one slice to each portion; cover with mayonnaise and sprinkle with chopped celery and ground walnuts. Roll balls of mince to cheese in the round walnut meats until well covered and serve one or two on the plate with the salad. Cinnamon Biscuits—Take one cup sweet milk, one cup sweet cream, two level teaspoons baking powder, a pinch of salt, flour to make a soft dough. Roll to an inch thickness, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, add a few pieces of butter, fold over once, cut out as for biscuits and bake quickly.

Buttermilk Pudding—One pint of buttermilk, two tablespoons of oil, one cup sugar, one cup cream, one cup flour, a pinch of salt, a pinch of soda and a half cup of sugar. Beat the buttermilk sufficient to mix to a stiff batter. Steam for two hours or bake in small cups. Serve with a liquid sauce. Cinnamon Withers—One cup of butter or butter and lard, one and a half cup sugar, one small cup sour milk, one-half teaspoon soda, any kind of flavoring you wish flour to make a stiff dough. Roll thin; bake in a quick oven.

To Keep Cut Flowers Fresh. An interested reader writes that, whether the stems of flowers be either hard or soft, they may be kept fresh longer if the stems are cut off about a quarter of an inch after placing them in water. Use a sharp pair of scissors, and be sure that the cut end is not exposed to the air at all.

The KITCHEN CABINET

HOME is the one place in all this world where hearts are sure of each other. It is the place of confidence. It is the spot where expressions of tenderness gush out without any sensation of awkwardness and without dread of ridicule.

—Frederick William Robertson.

WAYS OF SERVING RHUBARB.

Rhubarb is such a wholesome plant, and at this season of the year plentiful in the market, that the poorest purse can afford a few pounds to serve as it is best enjoyed. The pink-skinned variety is more attractive when cooked, and that is the kind to buy when getting a root for your kitchen garden. While it is tender and reasonable in price is the time you can get it for winter or make the various preserves and preserves which are such favorites.

Many can rhubarb in cold water. Fill a perfectly sterile jar with the cut plant, put the jar under the cold water faucet and fill it to overflowing. Then seal, and put in a cool, dark place. This rhubarb can be used for pies very nicely in the winter months.

Spiced Rhubarb—This is delicious to serve with meats. To two pounds of rhubarb cut in inch pieces, add a pound of sugar, set on the back of the range and add a bag of mixed spices; cook slowly until thick, remove the spice bag and turn into glasses. When cold cover closely.

Rhubarb Pudding—Spread a few slices of bread generously with butter, sprinkle over it a grating of nutmeg; line a baking dish with the bread and cover with finely cut rhubarb, add another layer of bread and rhubarb and add sufficient sugar to sweeten. Bake in a moderate oven until the rhubarb is well done. Serve with a sauce of butter and sugar creamed together and seasoned with nutmeg. Or a sauce of cream and sugar is good.

Rhubarb Conserve—Take equal parts of rhubarb and sugar, let stand over night, add half pound of blanched almonds, two lemons and an orange sliced; remove the seeds and put all the ingredients through the meat grinder. Cook until smooth and thick, then put into glasses. For those who enjoy figs, a half pound will be an addition to this conserve.

Nellie Maxwell.

Every Day Talks For Every Day People...

Jansville is having the happy distinction of entertaining the Grand Council of Wisconsin, United Commercial Travelers, and if the weatherman will only smile on us, the members of the U. C. T. will take home with them many happy memories of our progressive city. A young man often decides to be a "traveling man" because he can travel, see the country, meet people and be up to snuff in general, as one young man gaily puts it.

There's more truth in that part of the saying than he has any idea of, for that is just what a salesman must be—"up to snuff in general." To be a successful salesman one must be wise with a wisdom that at times borders on the uncanny, patient with patience that surpasses the far-famed patience of Gusefina, and a diplomat of no mean order.

Isn't all unalloyed joy—this being a salesman. A man that practically lives in trains, hotels and waiting rooms is generally very strong in his desire to experience the peace and quiet of a nice little home of his own place where, after the toil of day is over, he can come, sure of a welcome, sure of being understood, where he can fill the bill as partner, daddy and the biggest and most precious baby of them all.

To use an expression of one of our local U. C. T. that kind of living has traveling beat forty different ways.

In many ways it's a lonely life, a hard, exacting life, one that expects you to be generally very strong in his desire to experience the peace and quiet of a nice little home of his own place where, after the toil of day is over, he can come, sure of a welcome, sure of being understood, where he can fill the bill as partner, daddy and the biggest and most precious baby of them all.

If he be married—Oh! Say now—If he be married he will candidly tell you that he wishes his expense account were large enough to admit of him taking his partner home with him the joy of coming home is submerged in the knowledge that he'll have to leave her and the children and so on again. That's a little matter, but how luxuriously comfortable it is, is not to be even compared to the place where he is king, where he has a chance to try out the job of being father to a few of our coming influential citizens.

In short, a member of the U. C. T. is a man who must daily demonstrate the fact "That the man worth while, is the man that can smile when everything goes dead wrong," a man who each day is a hustler and a different hotel must stay steadily to himself. "Home is where the heart is."

Here's to the man who can go on the road.

Be successful, big and clean.

Who keeps so busy being a man.

He has no time to be mean.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Mitchell Kirk

As a rule, one recipe will answer for all small fruits and berries. Strawberries are the exception. They are the one berry which is not improved by heat, and for several years I have not recommended canning much of this fruit. But we are learning that the great secret of canning is sterilization, and this helps solve the problem. Canning Strawberries—Cold Process.

Materials—Strawberries, four quarts; granulated sugar, one quart. Directions—Sterilize the fruit jars as directed and turn upside down in the refrigerator over night. Select only perfect berries; wash, hull, cover with sugar and set in a covered bowl in the refrigerator with the jars. In the morning fill quickly and seal. Set in a cool, dark place. These should keep perfectly and have their original flavor.

Strawberries and Pineapple—Cold Process. Select perfect berries and an equal amount of perfectly ripe pineapple. Prepare the berries as directed in the previous recipe and the pineapple by grating or chopping fine. Put together in layers in a bowl with half their weight in sugar. Proceed exactly as in the previous recipe for canning.

Sun Preserved Strawberries. Select perfect berries and three-fourths their weight in sugar. Prepare the berries as previously directed and lay on plates or a large platter; set in the refrigerator over night. Add one cup of water to each cup of sugar and boil until a syrup. Boil about 15 minutes, cover and stand this also in the refrigerator. In the morning distribute the syrup equally over the berries; stand in the hot sun for two or three days or until they look rich and preserved. If the syrup is then not as thick as desired, boil again, cool and add to the berries. Put in carefully, so they will keep their shape, into glasses, and cover with paraffine.

Strawberry Jam—Cooked. Materials—Strawberries, four qts.; granulated sugar, four quarts. Directions—Prepare strawberries by washing, draining and hulling. Wash well and add the sugar, turning all into the preserving kettle. Boil for about 20 minutes or until tried in a dish: set on ice when it will jelly. Three-fourths of the amount of sugar is often used when there has been much sunshine and the fruits are sweet.

The World's Volcanoes. There are 270 active volcanoes in the world, many of them being comparatively small.

Quality of a Good Teacher. No man can govern a school unless he knows how to govern himself.

FROCK OF NATURAL COLORED TUSSOR

Frock of natural colored tussor with collar and bandings of paprika colored satin. Chemisette of flat verise. The long sleeves are attached to foundation lining, while the blouse is made with deep arm holes. Pointed sections extend below flat bow of girdle in front. In the back points of the skirt are brought up over girdle. A stitched band extends around bottom of skirt from each side of front. Braided buttonhole motifs and ornamental tailor's tacks trim blouse, skirt and sleeves.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY Life will run smoothly and tranquilly for all those dear to you, and you will have a prosperous year, forming some new and valued friendships. Those born today will have admirable qualities and will steadily progress, succeeding as a matter of course. Like all born under the influence of Mars, they should be taught to control their feelings.

A Tired Reformer. We know so many things that should be done that we no longer hope to see them accomplished during our lifetime.—Atchison Globe.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots. Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from the Badger Drug Co.; and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion. Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Dollars Come Easy Sometimes.

Some men find it pretty hard to make a dollar. Others find it easy.

Most always this is DUE TO THE MAN, NOT THE DOLLAR. A dollar is not particular, it doesn't care whose pocket it lands in. It generally goes to the FELLOW WHO IS ON THE LOOKOUT FOR IT.

There are dollars in this newspaper and they are coming your way. In the Want Ad section there are Real Estate investment dollars, Second Hand Furniture Dollars, Dollars from the Boarder or Roomer you may secure, Dollars from the help you can get and dollars for the service you can render.

If you don't get them it is your fault, not the dollar's.

THE DAUGHTER OF DAVID KERR

By HARRY KING TOOTLE

Illustrations by RAY WALTERS

Then came the heavy thuds as the men threw themselves against the door. The knocking at the gate in "Macbeth" had no more portentous sound in the play than had this attack upon her stronghold to Gloria. She felt all the nervousness of troops awaiting orders. There was nothing she could do but wait until the door was battered down.

This was not long in happening. As she stood in front of the trunk nervously twisting her handkerchief in her hands, at one last mighty effort the bolt yielded, the door flew open and two men stumbled into the room. Little Ella recognized them both instantly. They were Buck Kelly and Turkey Ryan, notorious denizens of the underworld. If ever there were two vicious-looking cutthroats, these men answered their descriptions. To make their ruffianly appearance worse they bore the marks of their recent encounter. Kelly's left eye had swelled almost closed, and Ryan had a long cut across his cheek where Wright's ring had left its mark with a slashing blow. He had done even more damage than this, but these showed the plainest. Needless to say, their tempers had not been sweetened by the episode.

"You Can't Fool Us With That Soft Soap Talk."

"Now, damn you—" Ryan began savagely.

"Stop!" Gloria commanded. "What are you doing here?"

Until she spoke they had not seen her, and both men were taken much aback. To find a lady there was something they had not expected.

"What the—" Ryan gasped, but checked himself and then continued in a slightly more respectful tone. "I beg your pardon, miss, but what are you doing here?"

"That's none of your business. You clear out, both of you."

This encouraged Little Ella to take her part in the discussion, which she did with her most strident tones.

"What do you mean, buttin' into here? Beat it, you two. I'm a lady, an' when I have a lady friend avistin' me they ain't no place for bums. On yer way."

It was not this tirade which had the most effect upon them. Both quailed before Gloria, who stood eyeing them sternly. Then they looked at each other, and without a word of apology shuffled out into the hall.

CHAPTER XX.

If Gloria believed that she had put to flight for all time such gentlemanly assassins as Mr. Kelly and Mr. Ryan, her feeling of triumph did not last long. As the door into the hall was still open she did not dare make a move in Wright's direction. She determined to close the door and pull the washstand in front of it, wedging it under the knob, before trying further to succor the injured man. When she walked toward the door, again framed the forms of Ryan and Kelly. As a result of a short conference just out of earshot, they had decided to return and get their man.

"What do you want?" Her heart sank.

"We're lookin' fer a man," Kelly snarled.

"And he come into this room, too," Ryan added doggedly. "We don't want to make you uncomfortable, lady, but we gotta git that man."

The way he said it made Gloria feel that he meant business. All she could do was play for time and pray for Mrs. Hayes to return.

"There's no man here," she explained in her most winning manner. "You can see that plainly for yourself. I came over from the mission to take care of this sick woman. You are only making her worse by bursting into her room in such a rude fashion. Please go out gently; she must have it perfectly quiet."

Turkey Ryan so far forgot himself in the presence of his betters as to grin at this explanation.

"We don't want to have to make you give 'im up."

This threat had an unpleasant sound. Hitherto the girl had not feared for her own safety, but his surly remark frightened her. The one thing that kept her steadfast was the thought that she was protecting the man she had loved; yes, the man she now loved more than she ever had. She did not know how he happened to be there; she did not know how he regarded her; she only knew that she loved him, that she would give her life a sacrifice to save him.

Ryan next appealed to Little Ella. "Ella, that guy come in here, where is he? We ain't goin' to be scared by any fool girl. She don't know who wants him. Now give 'im up."

"Don't say a word," Gloria told her. "You gotta stick by us, Ella. This ain't no ordinary job."

At Ryan's injunction to stick by him, Little Ella seemed to waver.

"Don't you forget who yer friends are. Who keeps you from bein' judged? Mike Noonan. Who lets you stay here when you can't pay, an' feeds you? Mike Noonan."

"That's so. He has been good to me."

Gloria was quick to catch the note of indecision. "But now I'm going to take care of you."

"Yes, goin' to, goin' to," sneered Kelly. "You know what church promises is. Don't you forget we gotta stan' together down here, all of us."

It was the old, old appeal of class to serve a selfish end.

"Yes, that's true. I don't want to say anything, but—"

Ryan immediately pressed the advantage he thought he had gained.

"This is yer chance, Ella. You know what she'd say to you if you was in her house. Are you with us? I'll see you git yours."

It was a moment when a man's life was at stake. Gloria believed that if the woman told and they tore Wright from her she might never see him alive again. She had prayed silently for help to come, but she was still alone. Already she was giving up hope from that quarter and was conscious that upon her own efforts in all probability the very life of the man she loved would depend. To add to her anguish was the fear that he might regain consciousness and betray himself by a moan.

Now it all depended upon Little Ella. It had been a clever stroke, that of Ryan's, asking her how she would be treated in this woman's home. Against this appeal to class prejudice Gloria had not scored.

"I'll tell," said the woman.

The two men looked at each other and smiled.

"Stop!" cried Gloria, looking not at the men, but at the girl who lay pale and trembling upon the bed. "Do you remember what you said a while ago? What you accused me of? You swore that I hadn't loved. Even to my sorrow you shall have proof of it now that I do. The very man whom I'm defendin' from these bullies is the one man on earth I love." Ryan and Kelly looked at each other in amazement. "You shall see if you loved more than I. You've gone through fire and storm for a man? I'll do no less. If need be, I'll die for this man—here and now—because I love him." The fire died out of her eyes. She stretched out her hands to Ella pathetically and begged humbly. "My whole heart's happiness is here. Are you going to help them try to take him from me?"

The woman, a creature of impulse, was moved.

"You'd better give it up, Turkey. I ain't goin' to let you touch that man."

"Ah, you're a woman," sighed Gloria. "You know a woman's heart."

"Nix on that love spiel, Ella," commanded Ryan. "This ain't no valentine party, lady. You can't fool us with that soft-soap talk. We gotta carry out the boss's orders. Buck, look in that closet."

Ryan recognized that the time for action had come. On his side he had the overwhelming brute force, which would enable him to do as he pleased. Kelly had turned to look into the closet when he was stopped by Gloria's outburst. What Ryan had said had reminded her of her own power.

"Stand where you are, you infamous thugs! Must I tell you the truth to be obeyed? If you are above the law, I am higher still. Mike Noonan could have told you whip I am. You speak of your boss, then learn the truth."

"What yer givin' us?" jeered Ryan as he advanced toward the place where Wright lay hidden.

"Stand back," she cried. I am Gloria Kerr."

The two men looked at each other in astonishment, and Little Ella sat bolt upright in bed.

"The boss?"

"Daughter," Gloria finished Ryan's exclamation. "I am the daughter of David Kerr. Now go."

Something in her bearing made them feel that she was telling the truth. Kelly, timid now and apologetic, was the first to speak.

"Well, we didn't know you was—why didn't you say—"

"I guess we'll go see Noonan," was Ryan's method of beating a retreat.

"He can't git away, anyway," Kelly whispered to him.

Gloria breathed a sigh of relief as they turned to go, but in an instant the shrill scream from Ella, which brought the men back to the center of the room froze her blood.

"The boss's daughter!" It was a witch's screech ending in a peal of unearthly laughter.

Gloria sank into a chair gasping. "What have I said?"

She felt the curse upon her.

"Come back, Turkey, come back," shrieked Little Ella, laughing wildly. "The boss's daughter! The boss's daughter!"

Her thin hands plucked at the coverlid, and her blazing eyes were fixed upon Gloria, who had shrunk into a weak lump in her chair. Only a few moments had passed since all had admitted that Little Ella dominated the situation. That fact she recognized as readily as did the others. Now she determined to make use of her power. Gloria herself had aroused the savagery of the woman by having inflamed her against the boss, not knowing that the creature's rage was directed against her own father.

Feverishly stimulated to an unaccustomed mental acuteness by the thoughts of her wrongs as Gloria had lain them bare, all the cruelty of the woman's nature asserted itself. Revenge with her was sweetness long drawn out. It was the dainty morsel over which the gourmet lingers. It was the tantalizing antics of the cat that gloats over the mouse beneath its paw, and even lets it run a little way to arouse the wild hope that it may yet escape. Having decided upon the ultimate disclosure of Wright's hiding place, Little Ella was now bent most of all on making the daughter of the boss suffer to the limit.

"What's the matter, Ella?" Ryan asked.

"Let them go, I say. Please let them go," Gloria implored.

"You want them to go, do you? Hal! Hal! The boss's daughter! The boss's daughter!"

The last words she uttered in pleading tones horrible to hear as she swayed back and forth, keeping time with her body to the cadence of her cry.

Gloria tried to gather herself together to meet this new attack, but without much success. She felt so weak from the shock that she was only able to rise from her chair with difficulty.

"You're out of your head. You're mad. Keep still, I tell you." The men still standing irresolute, she turned upon them. "Why are you standing there? Leave this room."

Little Ella was enjoying herself hugely. Gloria's every pleading tone was music in her ears. Her eyes burned with excitement. Yet the cruel cat delayed to crush the mouse. Its quivering was too soul-satisfying. Realizing that if she admitted Gloria was the daughter of David Kerr the men would forego their pursuit of Wright, Little Ella knew her best course was to deny the relationship.

"Don't you go, Turkey," she yelled. "I'll tell you the truth." She turned to Gloria. "I wish the boss had a daughter, did it?—It's a lie, Turkey. She's not Dave Kerr's girl. He'd laugh to see a daughter of his in such a hell-hole. I'd watch her to see that she paid the price," she glanced at Gloria malevolently, "if it had a daughter. An' yer perfectin' the man you love!" she mocked. "We'll see how the boss's daughter loves."

Her laughter was terrible. The men could not think her the same woman they knew. Gloria started in alarm. She felt the woman was mad, and did not know what she might do.

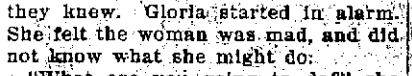

"What are you going to do?" she asked.

lack of appreciation, but here is a pleasant instance of one who won more admiration than he had ever aspired to.

A Chinese minister in Washington went to hear the Marine band play. Particularly was he impressed with the trombone player, so much so, in fact, that he offered him a handsome engagement in China.

"I have never seen a juggler," said the visitor, "who could swallow as much brass pipe as you and spit it out again, and yet the people here regard it with an utter lack of enthusiasm."
